Black Church
print studio

Our Mission:

Located in the heart of Temple Bar - Dublin's cultural quarter - Black Church Print Studio (BCPS) pushes the boundaries of contemporary print in Ireland and beyond. We are the lifeblood of over 90 print artists. Established in 1982, the studio fuels the professional practice of artists by providing physical studio space and specialist equipment to create work - from the traditional to the innovative and cutting edge - while also generating opportunities for exhibition, professional development and national and international networking.

BCPS also offers opportunities for the public to experience contemporary printmaking through exhibitions, workshops, tours, and talks across our many access programmes and printmaking workshops. Supported by the Arts Council, DCC and Dept. of CHG, the studio provides a creative and conducive working environment to share both traditional and emerging skills, with a goal to advance contemporary printmaking in Ireland while pushing the boundaries of other visual art forms.

In addition to its core work, the studio runs five critically acclaimed programmes, for which we are seeking suitable partners to drive our ambition and impact further.
